Men Are Not Fine, The Mentorship Gap | Adventist Review

Jesus steps into the gap for men today. He practiced a wholistic, relational form of mentorship that mirrored the discipleship model of the rabbis. He not only instructed His disciples. He walked with them. He allowed them to see both His strength and His sorrow. He modeled a masculinity that was compassionate, courageous, and rooted in dependence on God. This kind of man-to-man relationship is desperately needed today. Mentorship must be more than advice. It must include relationships. The apostle Paul also understood this when he said, "Follow my example, as I follow the example of Christ" (1 Cor. 11:1, NIV). When he took Timothy under his wing, Paul didn't begin with written letters. Instead, he took "him along on the journey" (Acts 16:3, NIV). Men need other men to follow, not from a distance, but up close.

Meets every Sabbath at

877 North Park Street, Victoria, BC

Seventh-day Adventists accept the Bible as the only source of our beliefs. We consider our movement to be the result of the Protestant conviction Sola Scriptura—the Bible as the only standard of faith and practice for Christians. Jesus left His followers with an epic mission: tell the world of His love and His promise to return. We love people the way He loves them.
